A Bad Place in the Road-Just now, may be seen in a part of Wooden St., particularly that part near largely increasing trade the First Baptist church, a somewhat indiscribable picture of rus in urbe, as represented by muddy winter roads. Every one who has travelled the road from Waynesville to Webster by the dirt road have been complaints (and will recall the memorable Hinson's lane on Scott's Creek, he will never forget it, justly, too) by some of our where for half a mile or more, there was the true Serbonian bog. That had one advantage which Woodfinstreet has not; the driver could pull down the fence and boggle along as best be might through promptly. With our addithe untrodden, muddy fields. Woodfin street has been successively cut up for water mains, gas pipe and sewer pipe. The red mud has been turned up over and over again; and in addition to rain, ready large trade, and promapparently has been drenched and soaked by the bursting of a water main, until it ise to meet all competition. is in a condition to demand the prayerful Our stock, as heretofore, will consideration of the authorities, rather than invoke the too ready anothernas of be kept up to the highest all that pass that way.
